Footnotes :

1. The term 'area' is used to define the particular geographical area level being shown in the table. So, in the case of a table for a ward, this will mean the term 'area' translates to the name of the ward.
2. Net migration within the UK subtracts the number of people who have moved into the area from elsewhere in the UK, from the number of people who have moved out of the area to elsewhere in the UK. It does not include people who have moved to or from outside the UK.
3. People with no usual address last year are included within 'lived at same address, or moved from within same area'.
4. Because of the nature of migration, tables cannot be aggregated above Output Area.
5. One year ago is one year before Census day (29 April 2001).
6. Inflow is not an exact count of people moving into an area as it does not include people who had no usual address one year ago who did not live within the area.
7. Outflow is not a count of all people moving out of the area as it does not include people who have moved outside the UK.

Footnotes :

1. The term 'area' is used to define the particular geographical area level being shown in the table. So, in the case of a table for a ward, this will mean the term 'area' translates to the name of that ward.
2. Persons under one year old take the migration characteristics of their next of kin, i.e. a household containing a child under one year old where all other people in the household have not moved in the last year is recorded as 'whole household lived at same address one year ago' rather than a partly moving household.
3. A wholly moving household is one where all members of the household have moved from the same address. A partly moving household is where one or more members of the household have moved in the last year but not all members have moved from the same address.
4. Households where all members had no usual address one year ago are included within 'Whole household lived at same address one year ago, or moved from within the same area'.
5. One year ago is one year before Census day (29 April 2001).

Footnotes :

1. The term 'area' is used to define the particular geographical area level being shown in the table. So, in the case of a table for a ward, this will mean the term 'area' translates to the name of that ward.
2. Persons under one year old take the migration characteristics of their next of kin, i.e. a household containing a child under one year old where all other people in the household have not moved in the last year is recorded as 'whole household lived at same address one year ago' rather than a partly moving household.
3. A wholly moving household is one where all members of the household have moved from the same address. A partly moving household is where one or more members of the Census day household have moved in the last year but not all members have moved from the same address.
4. Households where all members had no usual address one year ago are included within 'Whole household lived at same address one year ago, or moved from within the same area'.
5. One year ago is one year before Census day (29 April 2001).
6. Inflow is not an exact count of people moving into an area as it does not include people who had no usual address one year ago who did not live within the area.
7. Outflow is not a count of all people moving out of an area as it does not include people who have moved outside the UK.
8. A dependent child is a person in a household aged 0 to 15 (whether or not in a family) or a person aged 16 to 18 who is a full-time student in a family with parents.
